

Dear Tri-Cities Prep Families,

Okay, deep breath. That is actually for me, not for you.

I wanted to pass along information regarding this first week. It has been determined that allowing our faculty the time this week to become organized and familiar with programs such as zoom and google meet, is in the best interest of our students.

Each faculty member has established a google classroom and has given their code to your student. Those codes will be available to families as well later today on our website. We are going to treat this week as a "snow week," allowing for our faculty to gather later this week to establish a protocol for the rest of our school closure.

We are asking students who may have missing assignments to take this time to complete them. Students who are caught up can take this time to plan ahead if they so choose. As I have indicated before, this is new for all of us, and I ask for patience and understanding as we proceed. The one thing I do know is that our faculty want to do the very best for your student, and that is personally inspiring to me.

Again, if you have any questions, please contact me at ljacobs@tcprep.org.

Sincerely,
Lisa Jacobs
